CAMP 25 NEWS

Bowers Mansion Opening

Commander Davis and Brother Ehlers were present for the annual opening of Bowers Mansion and they manned the library with Nevada Civil War maps and other memorabilia. The many members of the public that attended the open were able to interact with our brothers and were very happy with their presence and the Nevada history they passed on to them and their children. The Bowers Mansion will close for the season in October and we again will be there for that.

Memorial Day

Camp 25 had a good turnout for our participation in Memorial Day Services at the Reno GAR Cemetery, along with American Legion Post 1, their associated Boy Scouts of America Troup, and members of the Battle Born Chapter of the SAR. We formed up to fire a rifle salute in honor of our fallen Civil War brothers. Afterwards we fired a salute in the Hill Top Cemetery over a group of Civil War Veterans and by invitation at the adjacent the Knights of Pythias Cemetery for their Memorial Day service. Several Civil War veterans are also interred there.

Cancellation of 20th Anniversary Dinner

Unfortunately, in the judgment of our Commander and Vice Commander the interest was not there to hold a 20th Anniversary Dinner, so it has been canceled. If brothers wish to propose alternative events, they should bring their ideas to the upcoming meeting.

Nevada Veteran's Memorial Plaza Brick

The management of the Nevada Veteran's Memorial Plaza has confirmed that they have received our brick order, but because of a delay in receiving the bricks from their vender the engraving and placement is delayed. They believe that bricks will be on hand during the summer and that they will be engraved and ready for placement in mid to late summer. As soon as we have a date for placement, we will organize a ceremony to gather and honor our Nevada brothers that gave their full measure for our country.

Past Commander Riggs Mountain Naming

Commander Davis's presentation on the proposed Riggs Mountain naming went well at the Nevada Board on Geographic Names and is moving forward. They have selected a ridge near Carson City; therefore, it would be Riggs Ridge. The application moves to the next step, with their board researching it. Once they are done, it would go to the next meeting in September, when they will approve, disapprove, or send it back for more work. Christine Johnson, our POC, received 4 letters of support. It would be useful if more of our brothers would also send her letters/e-mails of support. We will provide some talking points and the address where you can to send your support to.

Private George O Johnson

George O Johnson was born to John and Frances (Peterson) Johnson, Corinth, Maine in 1841. George served as a Private in the Maine 11th Infantry, H Company. A book written in 1896 entitled "The Story of One Regiment, The 11th Maine Infantry" compiled by a committee of the Regimental Association, goes into great detail about the regiment and their activities. They were organized and mustered on 12 November 1861 and began their move to Washington. On the way, they drafted a song which included their desired mission to "Hang Jeff Davis to a sour apple tree". They arrived in Washington on the 16th of November and camped at Fort Knox.

In March 1862, they advanced to Manassas, Va., on March 10th to 15th, then Newport News on March 28th. They fought at the siege of Yorktown from April 5th to May 4th and the Battle of Williamsburg on May 5th. They participated in operations about Bottom's Bridge on May 20th to 23rd, the the Battle of Fair Oaks and Seven Pines on May 31st and June 1st, and Guard Bottom's Bridge from June 13th to 26th. Moved to Fernandina, Fla., June 4–6, and duty there until October 6. daughter, Anna, my Great Grandmother, was adopted by her aunt. Her name became Anna May (Johnson) Allen, and she would marry Nathan Clifford Grover of Bethel, Maine on 12 June 1900. They lived in Washington DC where Nathan worked as a civil engineer.

RITUALS, CUSTOMS, TRADITIONS, AND HISTORY

SUVCW

Founder Augustus P. Davis

A.P. Davis was born in Gardiner, Maine and was the son of Anthony and Mary Davis, and at the age of 14 Davis left home and travelled to San Francisco as part of the 1849 California Gold Rush. His dreams of finding a fortune did not come to pass and he renewed his career as a sailor in 1850. He worked on various ships and eventually enlisted in the Royal Navy for four years during the Crimean War. He was discharged from the Royal Navy, and in 1860 he returned home to his family in Maine.

Shortly after the attack on Fort Sumter, Davis volunteered to serve in the 11th Maine Volunteer Infantry Regiment and was elected as captain of Company F on May 11, 1861. Shortly afterwards, they were sent south to serve with the Army of the James, and in April 1862 Davis was detached from the 11th Maine and detailed as Provost Marshal of the division commanded by Major General Silas Casey, where he was wounded in action at the Battle of Fair Oaks and spent several weeks recovering in the hospital.

On March 7, 1863, Davis resigned from the Army and returned to Maine. The resignation was accompanied by a surgeon's certificate dated the same day that stated, "he has tubercular deposits in the right lung, with pleuritic adhesions on that side. In consequence, I believe the exposure incident to field service will very soon assuredly break down his health." Soon after Davis' arrival in Maine, on April 24, 1863, he was appointed as Provost Marshal for the 3rd District of Maine and re-commissioned as captain. He held this position until he was honorably discharged on August 15, 1865. On June 22, 1867 Davis received a brevet to the rank of major to date from March 15, 1865.

After the war, in 1866, Davis married Mary Ann Gilpatrick, and they had one son, Herbert Anthony Davis, before she died in 1872. Three months later, Davis married Lizzie E. Parks, and on advice of his doctor they moved to Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania to live in a drier climate. In Pittsburgh, Davis pursued a career as an insurance executive. Davis' second son, Charles K. Davis, was born in Pittsburgh shortly after his arrival.

He joined Alexander Hays Post 3 of the Grand Army of the Republic in Pittsburgh. On January 14, 1880, and he was elected as a Veteran Companion of the First Class of the Pennsylvania Commandery of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States (MOLLUS), and assigned MOLLUS insignia number 1981.

On November 12, 1881, Davis organized the first camp of the Sons of Veterans of the United States of America (SV) which would later be renamed as the Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War (SUVCW). In his original conception, the SV was to be a military training program for young men aged 14 and above. In addition to instilling discipline and patriotism, the SV was also intended to be a military reserve force which could be called on in time of war.

Although Davis was ineligible for membership in the SV, in August 1884 Davis was declared by the SV's Commander-in-Chief to be a Past Commander-in-Chief and a Past Grand Division Commander and was given the privilege of joining the camp of the SV of his own choosing.

In the first two decades since its founding, the SV grew to have departments in most states other than those which were part of the Confederacy. Its membership peaked in 1904 when it had about 200,000 members. Today there are over 6,000 members.

Although Grand Army of the Republic (GAR) never allowed an officially affiliated with the SUVCW, the ties between the two organizations were strong, and on February 13, 1954, Albert Woolson, the last surviving member of the GAR, signed a deed of conveyance giving all remaining GAR property to the SUVCW.
